

Anaerobic "green" adhesives

New anaerobic adhesive line designed to improve the operating conditions for the operators, with particular care for their health and safety.

Loxal R&D department has developed a "green" thread locker and pipe sealant line which product Loxal 83-52, Loxal 55-02 and Loxal 58-12 do not report on the label any risk phrase or symbol as such products are not classified as dangerous, according to actual directive on dangerous products.

Therefore, on the related MSDS sections, there is no reference of any dangerous ingredient or substance.

They are in compliance with Italian Normative 81/2008 related to safety on working places.

They insure unfailing locking torque and high sealing properties, with excellent temperature and chemical resistance.

For more details, Loxal staff is available to give technical and commercial support.
